OUR LATE LEGISLATURE.

It will be remembered, or at least it ought to be, that in the beginning the present year the legislature of izona met at Prescott and held a otracted session, out of which was olved the bill creating Cochise inty, with its appointive officers. ter the statutory time had expired the session it continued to sit incubate. confirm previous reports regarding the Jeannette and her crew, but no new facts are brought out. WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.-The secretary of the navy received from Engineer Melrille, under date of Irkutsk, December 21st, a cable message identical with that cabled from London last night to the New York Herald, which the secretary replied to as follows: Navy Department, Washington, December 22-Engineer Melville, U. S. N., Irkutsk: Omit no effort, spare no ex-pense, in securing the salety of the men in he second cutter left sick and frozen, and see that those already rescued have every attention, and soon as possible have them transported to a milder climate. The Trial of Guiteau. WASHINGTON, D. C. 22.—Guiteau came into court this morning apparently under some strong excitement. Col Charles some strong excitement. Col Charles Reed took a seat by his side and whispered something to him Guiteau, striking the table violently, began to expostulate, say ing, "I wont do anything of the kind." At this point Scoville whispered some expostulation, when Guiteau angrily said to him, "I won't have you compromising my case by your foolish questions. You must get off my case if you can't stop cempromis-A whispered consultation being it ween the three mentioned seemed to result in pacifying the prisoner, who looked up with a smile and said, "I was going to make a speech, but I have changed my mind and guess I won't do it." He then busied himself spening his mail, remarking, "This is the first time I have ever penened my mail myself for some time."

Dr. Theodore Diamond, of Auburn who had been summoned for the defense and retained by the prosecution, was called to the stand. Witness believed, juding by the evidence he had listened to, including that of the prisoner himself, and from the appearance and conduct of the prisoner, that he is a sane man. The hypothetical questions put to Dr. Wooster yesterday were then read to witness, and he replied "I should say he was sane."

The Democrats Dissatisfied. Washington, Dec. 22.—The democrats are greatly disgusted with the committee assignments, no attention having been paid, they claim, to the order of precedence. Morey talks of declining to serve on the postoffice committee, because Springer leads him in position, whereas he should be first. The democrats claim that the selection of the committees is in the interest of the southern republicans contestants having three southern members, and they expect a summary unscaling of democrats to follow, unless fillbu tering prevents, and this course is threa

Johnston about the confederate money removed by order of Jeff Davis, Regan of Texas, now in the house. who was last secretary of the treasury under the Confederate government, said to-night that the funds consisted in round numbers of $86,000 in gold coin, $35,000 silver coin, and $36,000 in bullion, over $100,000 of this was paid out to soldiers. The bullion was stored in a warehouse a Washington, Ga., and was there captured by Federal troops. Tucson, Dec. 22.-T. J. Potter, general manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, accompanied by Dr. J. Ransom, surgeon of the road, passed through here this evening on a special car bound for San Francisco. They have been at Denver, to which point their road is being built. Mr. Potter expressed himself much pleased with the climate and general appearance of that portion of Ari zona they had passed through. He was much surprised at finding the Southern Pacific route so free from dust, as it had been represented that this road was very dusty and consequently disagreeable for passenger travel. He thinks this route much preferable in many respects to the Union and Central Pacific, and believes the great majority of the travel from the Western States to the Pacific coast will be via the Southern Pacific. Referring to the character of the road, he said it was built and very smooth to ride over, The C. B. & Q. company have about three thousand miles of road under its manage.

Colonel McKenzie.

Colonel McKenzie, who was lately engaged in our Indian campaign, is a per-son of some historical interest. His name was formerly William Slidell, he being the son of Captain Siidell, who, under the administration of John Tyler, was in command of the United States brig Somers, and who hanged midshipman Netson son of Nelson, the secretary of the navy, to the yard-arm, because of his heading a mutiny on the high seas.

He is also a nephew of John Slidell, who was United States senator from Louisiana at the outbreak of the war. The name McKenzie was assumed by reason of a the United States.

Hen. Madison W. Stewart arrived in town last night from Willcox. He says business was very lively, and the future of the town looks as bright as ever.

Juan Bozosobal, a prominent merchant in Guaymas, arrived by stage last night, and will leave for 'Frico this evening. He states that Hermosillo has improved remarkably since the rallroad reached there, and thinks it is making far more rapid strides than Guaymas in size and presperity. Matters generally look very bright throughout Sonora. From the Daily Star,

It is stated that ex Governor McCormick is slowly recovering from his lilness in New York. Another Apache Indian has died of pneun onts at Fort Lowell. He retueed to eat or take medi-cine, and quietly dropped off to the Apache heaven.

There are now five privileges granted for sup-diving Tueson with water. We believe in compeplying Tueson with water. In union there is strength.

The fact that the Atchison, Topeks & Santa Fe Railroad surveyers propose to iun two lines osurvey from Calabasas northward, one down to Santa Cruz valley by Tucsen, and the other by youd the range of mountains west of this place. some seven or eight miles, looks as though route to this place was not fully determined, might be well for our citizens to keep an eye the situation and lose no opportunity in securing the ine to this point. While we believe it wil be to the interest of the company to build the road here, yet we must not fail in doing every thing which will insure it beyond question. Judge Silent will leave to-day for San Jose, California, to pass the holidays.

A Card. EDITOR EPITAPH: The people of Tombstone have had the pleasure of reading another cases from the pen of that philanthropic expounder of law and justice, James Reilly; and as the old say ing is, a burnt child dreads the fire, he takes occasion to attack men that he never spoke to, and con't know this day when he meets them in the streets, by calling their place of business a den of thuge. These gentlemen happened to be associa-ted in business with one of the Earp brothers, and old Vox Populi Yox Del Rellly takes occasion, for the benefit of a lot of office seekers and bunks sharps, to champion their cause, and throws his billingsgate on the Earp brothers and Holliday. But, considering the source it comes from, they trest it with contempt. A word as to the agen of Wells-Fargo, and the gentlemen comprising the Citizens' committee. All men who were never ar rested of accused of anyrerime will act just like this lot-jumper and would be attorney at law has acted. They will attack any committee of citizens if they have any fear of their investigating his character or from whence he came; and as Reilly was charged when he lived in Yuma with being connected in a stage robbery and the taking of Weils-Fargo's box, he likely knows what he is talking about when he says: "Mr. Editor, I put posely avoid all comments on stage robberies. MEXICAN NEWS.

American Near Fronteras. From Mr. Thomas Ewing, who came in from Arispe, Sonora, yesterday, it was learned that th officers from Fronteras brought to Arispe for trian, on the 18th instant, a Mexican who had killed an American, name unknown, somewhere between Fronteras and the coal fields, some days previous The account given of the affair by the prisoner was, that as he was going over a hill, having andkerchief around his head instead of a hat pon it, he was mistaken, as he supposed, for an indian, and fired upon from the bush near wher he was traveling. Seeing the man in ambush, he fired back and killed him. The effects of the deceased were taken with the prisoner to Arispo They consisted of a duck coat, lined with gray planketing; a soft, white hat, with a cord and tas els at the ends, the hat nearly new; a pair of California-made, half gauntlet buck gloves, of rather small size; a pair of spring-back spectacles; 195,825, the same being nearly new, with an old scabbard that had been ripped and re-sewed, and cut open both sides so that it could be reversed and worn upon either the right or left hip; one store quilt and two pair of brown or butternutcolored blankets, well worn. From the size of the coat and gloves it was inferred that the deceased must have been a small or medium-sized erson, and from the spectacles he must have een either near-sighted or else middele-aged. From the fact that no person witnessed the killing, it is impossible to state the cause that led to the deed other than the prisoner's story. The anthorities were giving the malter a general overhadling to arrive at the facts so far as in their Copper Queen Not Sold. We are indebted to Mr. Arthur Laing for the full particulars of the reported sale of the Copper Queen mine. It appears that Mr. L. Zeckendorf, one of the owners, had written to parties in Loudon about the mine, and had set a price upon the stock, which was $8 per share, or $2,000,000 for the property. These gentlemen sent out P. Taylor, Esq., of the firm of John Taylor & Sons, London, and Mr. Thom, a celebrated mining en cineer, to examine the mine and make a report upon the same. They were accompanied to Bisbee by Mr. James Donglass, a mining expert of Pennsylvania. They returned from Bisbee last evening and took the down stage for Benson. They made a critical examination of the mine, which was found better than the Epirapu report upon the same some time ago, for the reason that a winze has been sunk upon the ore body 15 feet since we saw it, thereby adding that much to that in sight. Ore was selected by Messrs. Taylor and Thom, and a run of 15 tons of ingote made, which was in every way satisfactory. It is not known whether the London parties will take the mine at $8 per share or not. That will be a matter for after consideration.

The Theater. Arowded nouse greeted the Hutchinson Com bination Variety troupe on their first appearance at Schieffelin hall last evening. Taken altogether, the performance was an exceedingly good one, though, owing to the unfortunate illness of Mr. Lorraine, the business manager, one act was una voldably omitted. Of the characters, Mrs. Lettie Hutchinson, an old Tombstone favorite and beneficiary of the evening, deserves first mention. Unhappily, the lady was suffering from a severe cold, and consequently was not in as good voice as usual, but otherwise she was as c arming as ever, and at each appearance was applauded in a hearty and vociferous manner. Burnes and Trayers as end men proved them elves of no small ability in their line and kept the audience convulsed with laughter while listening to their original jokes and omic songs, Miss Lene Baker ingratiated herself at once into the good graces of the house, for as well as being pretty, she has a sweet, wellcultivated voice, and is a clever actress. Miss Carrie Delmar also, by ner good singing and winning ways, has placed lerself on the high road to favoritism. Mile De Granville brought down the house repeatedly by her marvelous feats of strength and activity, all of which were accomplished with an ease and grace that plainly evi-denced much careful study on her part. Harry Larraine's piccolo solo was de-servedly well received, though, as has already been stated, a severe indisposition pre vented his doing himself justice. Satire.

The Welt No More Mine, situated about seven miles northwest of the Horn Silver mine, is one of the finest properties in the country (to spend money on.) It is easy of access (by balloon) and has the best dumping facilities of any mine south of Alta. The only drawback to the property is the lack of ore; with plenty of that it would rival the Comstock lode. There is a shaft forty-two inches deep from which a drift can be rnn 100 feet. This valuable property will be placed on the Eastern stock market if a syndicate can be formed that will get out papers at its own expense. The owners will furnish some very rich specimens of ere (from the Horn Silver mine) for samples, and a diagram in blue and red showing the course the vein ought to run. The float found a mile away, is pronounced by experts as being a rich chloride of assessment. The close proximity of the Welt-No-More to the Horn Silver makes it a desirable property, (for wild cat speculators.) The integrity of the owners is so well established that the mere mention of their names is enough to assure the most skeptical that it is no fraud, for with such names as John Taylor, Geo. Cannon and Ben Tasker at its head it is bound to succeed .-Southern Utah Times.

Queen Victoria, on October 25, completed a reign of 44 years and 128 days, which is just the length of time that Queen Elizabeth sat on the throne, that queen reigning from November 17, 1558, to March 14, 1603, consequently she has reigned longer than any other queen regnant, and longer than any English king, with the exception of George III., who reigned 60 years, (1760-1820); Henry III., who reigned 56 years, (1216-1272), and Edward III., 50 years, (1327-1377.) THE famous spring of boiling water in the middle basin of Hell's Half Acre, in the Yellowstone region, has lately become still more wonderful as a geyser. Four or five times every twenty-four hours it discharges E. F. BOYLE. a column of water, freighted with stones and obscured by a volume of steam. The hollow formation for hundreds of yards around the orifice trembles under the upheaval, and the water is thrown to a height of a hundred feet.

A Wicked Reporter.

Murat Halstead in the Chicago Tribune.

"Do you love me, Reginald?" The supper in connection with the fete champetre given by Stuyvesant McGuire in honor of the ninetcenth birthday of his only child was over, and the spacious parlers were filled with the younger portion of the assemblage, by which they had quickly been devoted to the worship of Terpsichore. Reginald Mulcahey and Aprodite McGuire had been gliding through the soft, sensuous measures of a Strauss waltz, and as the music ceased they had strolled into the dimly lighted conservatory, where, as they sat with clasped hands, her pure, sweet face looking lovingly into his, the question with which our story opens had been asked. "Do I love you, my little one?" responded Reginald, as he imprinted a arge Eighteenth ward kiss on the ruby-red lips that overhung the drooping sensitive mouth. "Your heart, that ever unerring and ever vigilant monitor of the soul, must tell you in words far plainer than any utterance of mine that without the inspiration of your love my life would be as dreary and aimless as the editorials in a Cleveland paper, and the days drift wearily by without one gleam of light to brighten the dreary horizon of my existence. You surely cann t but know, Aphrodite, that before I knew you I was a wild, reckless man, and that when your love burst over my sin-scarred soul a sweet joy stole over my being -a sense of cal , peaceful rest, such a the storm tossed mariner feels when the glad sunlight comes in golden glory through a rift in the leaden clouds that have so long o'erspread the horizon and looked upon the wind-swept sea in sullen glee, or comes to the belated traveler when the soft, mellow light of the unexpectedly-open saloon burst upon his enraptured vision. My love for you and the knowledge that it is returned has given me an aim in life-an aim, I may say, with a large A. With your bright face as a beacon light, my course shall be as unswerving as that of the majestic and eternal sun, whose fervid rays are even now kissing the limpid waters of the Pacific.

"Say no more," said Aphrodite. I believe you fully."

An hour later Reginald has just finished a polka with Julia Mahaffy, and is standing near the conservatory discussing with her the question of whether a blue dog or a red tree with a chrome yellow cow standing underneath it is the most suitable to be painted on a teacup, when the sound of voices reaches his ear. Glancing carelessly into the conservatory he sees Adelbert Quirk leaning over Aphrodite McGuire as she stands near the bay window carelessly plucking to pieces a binsh rose which she carelessly holds in her left hand. Adelbert is speaking very earnestly, and as Reginald listens he hears him say: "Your heart, that unerring and ever-vigilant monitor of the soul, must tell you in words far plainer than any utterance of mine, that without the inspiration of your love my life would be as dreary and aimless as the editorials in a Cleveland paper, and the days drift wearily by remout one green of light to brighten the dreary horizon of my exist-ence. You surely cannot but-"

"Curses on the reporter!" said Reginald in hoarse, passionate tones. He has sold us both the same speech' -and with a face convulsed with passion he passed rapidly into the supper-room and again tackled the mince pie.

Elder-Down Ducks. The beautiful eider-down ducks which abound in this cold latitude are a source of great revenue, and are the sole property of the inhabitants. They are protected by the laws of Norway, so that no stray sportsman is allowed to shoot them. learned the mode of procuring the down; when the duck is about to lay she plucks down from her own breast, the male plucks it from his, and they spread a thick lining of it all over the nest. When the nest is completed the owner removes the down; the patient ducks fill it a second and third time, when it is removed, but the fourth time it is allowed to remain. Thus the women and girls find enough to employ themselves in attending to these thousands of nests, while the men and boys make and mend their nets and get fish for oil and curing .- Norway letter.
